Dear Sir/Madam:

Can we please put this matter behind all of us so we can get on with better things?

As a consumer, Microsoft has revolutionized my personal and business life. I never felt they cheated me on the prices of their products.

Moreover, it appears these anti-trust actions were brought not for the benefit of the consumer but for the benefit of the competitors and a bunch of attorneys who wanted to advance their careers.

Even the class-action suit is a sham. How can an agreement to drop the suit in exchange for the company making a contribution to charities be of benefit to the class of plaintiffs the suit was originally designed to benefit?

As a stockholder of many years, the Company has been very good to me, and I have no apologies. That's what our enterprise system is all about.
